Personal Profile

I am a confident and enthusiastic individual with great passion for IT. Very inspired to become a unique Web Developer and, together with other reputable Web Developers, change the world for the better. As a self-trained Web Developer, I know how to design, create and modify web content using HTML, CSS and a bit of JavaScript. Also, I have a good knowledge of MVC C# and SQL.

My achievements are:

- Obtained a National Diploma in Information Technology in 2016.
- Changed working schedule through negotiating with a client and that cut out wasted time during shifts and made all cleaners to be full-day employees. Both parties benefited.
- Re-designed the library sitting in 2018 by separating the study section from the circulation which made peace among library patrons. I received an award as an Employee of the Quarter.
- Created a student corner using donated academic books, where students can find very useful information for respective studies.
- Have trained and mentored quite several new-hired Librarians and Interns who now have become unique in their position.

I have a proven ability to meet deadlines, prioritise, problem-solve and maintain high standards having balanced a full-time job alongside part-time studies. With a qualification for a National Diploma in Information Technology, I am now looking to secure a place in any company that will provide exposure to Web development and career progression opportunities.
